Rachel’s Vineyard

A Year in Review
Dear Friends,

As we say goodbye to 2022 and prepare to welcome 2023, it’s not only an appropriate time to remember and celebrate our accomplishments; but to appreciate and embrace those closest to us who serve so faithfully in our family of ministries. Our retreat team members are ordinary people that God has called and gifted to dramatically reshape thousands of lives. I thank Him for each of you, keenly aware of the enormous love and tenderness you display to everyone who comes to Rachel’s Vineyard.

The overturning of Roe has bought forth a surge of women and men seeking to heal after abortion... and this has been an incredible opportunity for all of our ministries to engage in unique media opportunities and education about the trauma of abortion before lawmakers and the public.

Rachel’s Vineyard promotes a holistic approach to healing for both survivors and the professionals and retreat teams who support them, anchored in our track record that it is possible to not only overcome trauma, but also to thrive and reclaim joy and meaning as thousands of our leaders have become an incredible wellspring of life affirming and saving ministries.

Participants come filled with a passion and deep yearning for peace and healing, and they leave with far more than warm memories. For several days they immerse their painful histories with God’s Word, and many, for the first time, begin to hear the voice of Jesus and experience His touch with increasing clarity. Remaining on the vine and experiencing His continued presence, they feel His life flowing and growing within them. And it leaves an indelible mark on their lives. It settles into the soul in such a way that they are forever changed. It leaves a legacy of His power imprinted on their hearts – and ours.

That word – legacy – is one that I’ve been pondering lately. We just launched the first series of our Virtual International Leadership Conferences, which will become an online library of training courses to help many new teams have the confidence and training to carry out safe and effective trauma informed ministry. These teachings are not simply video clips or audio sound bites we load into the minds of others. Leaving a legacy is more than providing good advice. It’s making a substantial difference in the life of someone else.

One of the greatest facets of our ministry is that it brings a piercing ray of light and hope into some of the incredibly dark realities and traumatic experiences of this fallen world. No matter what we’ve been through, who we’ve lost, or what setbacks or violence we’ve experienced; we’re loved deeply by our Heavenly Father.

“When a soul approaches Me with trust, I fill it with such an abundance of graces that it cannot contain them within, but radiates them to other souls.” (Jesus to St. Faustina)
Indeed, this truth has the power to shatter unbearable shame in our utter hopelessness, grief, or despair. God is actively intervening with the gift of hope, mercy, compassion, and reconciliation. And the impact of this encounter helps people who have suffered the loss of their children to abortion, to also encounter the person of their child. As they honor and remember the lives of their lost children, they recognize the gift of their children’s priceless humanity, and they viscerally feel their little ones reaching out to them with love from a world beyond this one. The fruits of this experience are eternal. They remind us of God’s generous and selfless love for each and every one of us – and the home he has been preparing for us in the life to come, that includes our loved ones who have died.

That’s quite a spectacular legacy!

So, as we reflect on our accomplishments in the past year, I truly treasure how God has continued to inspire and spread our ministries throughout the world. Throughout covid and ongoing shutdown in other countries, I have been able to continue providing training and mentoring teams all over the world. As I mentioned above, we just started another virtual Leadership Conference called Leading with Light, which began in November and will run through June 2023. Participants can watch these videos wherever they can connect to the internet, so our ability to train entire teams outside the United States has expanded vastly. And, as the videos will remain on our website through June 2023, participants can watch them as often as they want and take the time to dive into the subjects. This new, virtual format also allows us to keep registration open for a longer period of time, so it’s not too late to join! Learn more, or register, at www.livingscriptureinstitute.org/index.php/leadership-conference

I am honored to work with many Rachel’s Vineyard team members in three separate retreat programs: Rachel’s Vineyard - Healing the Pain of Abortion; Grief to Grace – Healing the wounds of Abuse, and my newest retreat; Duty to Heal – Finding Peace for a Soldiers Heart. So many who began in Rachel’s Vineyard continue to step out in courage to help women and men who are wounded by many other different types of trauma.

Rachel’s Vineyard continues to bring brave new voices offering their personal testimonies through the Silent No More Awareness Campaign founded by Janet Morana at Priests for Life and Georgette Fourney from Anglicans for Life. Silent no more has been a strategic partner with Rachel’s Vineyard since it began to bring awareness to the personal stories and painful aftermath of abortion.

And I could not ask for more from Frank Pavone and the entire staff at Priests for Life who work tirelessly on behalf of life. We are so blessed by our partnership! They are truly the silent force behind the scenes, promoting Rachel’s Vineyard and supporting its needs.

I am blessed by our small but devoted office staff (Katie D’Annunzio, Kelly Dunne, Mary Peterson and Katie O’Donnell), who all work tirelessly to ensure our site leaders have the opportunity to consult with us for everything they need to run smoothly. You are all amazing people, and I’m so very grateful for all you do and who you are.

I am so honored to stand with all those who provide Rachel’s Vineyard and the professionals who connect with our clinical trainings. I’m touched by all the advocates; the teachers; the lawmakers; the pregnancy resource centers, and all the donors whose support provides sponsorship for the tapestry of sites throughout the world that offer Rachel’s Vineyard.
With all my heart, I thank you for your friendship and all that you have allowed God to do through your generous service and LOVE! We certainly could not have accomplished anything without your own drive and passion to serve.

Blessings, Gratitude, and Peace!

Dr. Theresa Burke
Founder, Rachel’s Vineyard Ministries

As the rain and the snow come down from heaven, and do not return to it without watering the earth and making it bud and flourish, so that it yields seed for the Sower and bread for the eater, so is my word that goes out from my mouth: It will not return to me empty, but will accomplish what I desire and achieve the purpose for which I sent it. (Isaiah 55:10-11)
Dear Brothers and Sisters,

The year 2022 was the most eventful year ever for the pro-life movement, as we saw the reversal of Roe vs. Wade by the US Supreme Court Dobbs decision.

This is a tremendous victory which has intersected in many ways with our work of healing the wounds of abortion.

One of the reasons that grief after abortion is, as our Founder, Dr. Theresa Burke writes in her book, a “Forbidden Grief,” is that abortion has been considered by society as some kind of untouchable good against which one must never speak ill; a “constitutional right” which one must never attempt to contradict.

But now the Court has declared that it is not, and never has been, a “constitutional right.” They have knocked abortion down quite a few pegs, and left it to the American people and their legislators to consider and weigh its merits.

This gives, on a societal level, an added measure of weight to the grief and wounds so many experience after abortion, and that we in Rachel’s Vineyard work to heal.

People do not need to feel “forbidden” as they come forward and reveal how bad abortion has been for them and their families. No longer is abortion beyond the realm of questioning, criticizing, or mourning.

So, in 2022, we were certainly kept busy adjusting to the new landscape of a nation without Roe. Indeed, the whole pro-life movement, and the whole country, are still making that adjustment, and still working to understand all that it means.

At the same time, so much of our work remains the same. Drawing on the creative talent of Theresa Burke, with whom it is such a privilege and joy to work, and of Kevin Burke and the whole Rachel’s Vineyard team, we have embraced each day of this past year as an opportunity to let the world know that:

- We who reject abortion do not reject those who have had abortions,
- Healing, forgiveness, and welcome are available in Christ and in the Christian, pro-life community,
- Healing is a lifelong journey, and you don’t need to make it alone,
- We all have a role in understanding the healing journey and helping others to make it.

As you will read in this report, the work of training and education is flourishing, new sites are opening and existing sites continue to welcome so many in need, Church leaders, dioceses, and clergy across the Body of Christ are being equipped by Rachel’s Vineyard to lead others to healing, and the Good News of redemption after abortion is being broadcast on the airwaves, on social media, and in every other way.

I am honored to serve as the Pastoral Director of Rachel’s Vineyard. It is a joy for me to utilize the many platforms I have to make people aware of this ministry of healing and to explain its significance, to assist in the training we provide in person and online, to interact with the site leaders and teams, and to experience firsthand the Rachel’s Vineyard weekend retreat. We all have someone to mourn. And what a blessing that we all have a ministry like this that helps us to do so.

Our entire staff at Priests for Life are blessed to be so deeply involved in helping Rachel’s Vineyard in every way, including strategy and planning, fundraising, finance and legal matters, website development, personnel, social media and broadcasting, publishing, traveling and speaking, Church relations, pastoral guidance, and more.

And we also rejoice in the partnership Rachel’s Vineyard has with the Silent No More Awareness Campaign (a joint project of Priests for Life and Anglicans for Life). God bless those who, after having advanced along the journey of healing, discern that they are called to share their stories. This advances their own healing and helps many others to begin their own.

Praise the Lord for all that has happened in 2022. Let’s embrace the year 2023 with renewed hope and commitment to Rachel’s Vineyard Ministries!

Sincerely,

Frank Pavone

If you’re not a team member with an existing Rachel’s Vineyard site but would like to start one in your area, the first step is to experience a Retreat. Your own healing must be the first step in this discernment process. Stay involved with the site where you attend your weekend, if possible. Attend support meetings and offer to help in small ways. All this will prepare you for the time when you are ready to become a new site leader. Our recommendation is not to pursue any leadership role until at least a year after your initial weekend.

In conjunction with Living Scripture Institute, Rachel’s Vineyard is holding our first Virtual Leadership Conference! The first session began Monday, Nov. 14, 2022, with classes like The Biblical Basis of Rachel’s Vineyard, Healing in Culture of Rage, Sleep Deprivation, Approaching the Neuro-Science of Healing Trauma, and Military and Abortion, just to name a few. Our illustrious presenters are: Dr. Theresa Burke, Msgr. Mike Mannion, Frank Pavone, Nancy Blume, and Jody Duffy.

All of the courses will remain on our website, so it’s not too late to join! Regardless of when you start, you can watch the videos as often as you like. So far, we’ve gotten rave reviews:

“I have just watched Healing in a Culture of Rage. Absolutely brilliant - and looking forward to watching more, already feeling inspired.”

“The conference sessions are great!”

“I already watched three of the videos and can’t wait to watch the rest.”

“The video webpage is simple, easy to navigate, and professional.”

Next year, our sessions are scheduled for February 6, April 3, and June 12. You can enjoy presentations by Dr. Theresa Burke, Kevin Burke, Frank Pavone, Janet Morana, Dr. Martha Shuping, and Emily Babilonia.

The courses promise to be equally informative: Forgiveness; Shockwaves; Staying Healthy in a High Stress Ministry; Abortions, Suicide, and Depression; Men and Abortions; and Mentoring and Starting Rachel’s Vineyard Teams.

Want to connect with other members of the Rachel’s Vineyard family? We’re planning a live Meet and Greet as part of our February session, so you can exchange ideas and insights with team members from around the globe!

Rachel’s Vineyard Retreats Offer Post-Abortion Healing

By Elizabeth Wong Barnstead

OWENSBORO, Ky. (CNS) — Megan was “at first super-excited” when she learned about the concept of a Rachel’s Vineyard retreat, “but as the date got closer I got nervous,” she said.

Rachel’s Vineyard, an international program that started in 1995, now offers weekend retreats worldwide that aim to bring healing for women and men suffering from the effects of abortion.

Megan, who asked that her last name not be used, said she almost turned around on her way to the retreat.

But she decided to continue and found it to be a positive experience that she said helped her deal with repressed emotions from her experience with an abortion 30 years ago.

“Coming through the retreat, I found that God forgives,” she told The Western Kentucky Catholic, newspaper of the Diocese of Owensboro.

Today, Megan is part of the team with Rachel’s Vineyard of Kentucky.

“I’ve always wanted to help people who were in my situation, but I didn’t know how,” she said. Now she feels she can “make a difference in other people’s lives.”

Father Ben Cameron, a priest of the Fathers of Mercy religious community based in Auburn, Kentucky, helped start Rachel’s Vineyard of Kentucky and is the site leader of the western Kentucky team.

He said Rachel’s Vineyard team leaders are usually laywomen, but he has remained in this role since the team’s beginning in 2005 and knows a number of fellow priests who also serve in Rachel’s Vineyard’s healing ministry. The priest said the retreat design can help people process other types of grief, such as miscarriages or even knowing someone else who experienced an abortion.

Ultimately, the purpose of the retreat is “helping men and women open their hearts to Jesus Christ as the healer,” he said, adding that “it is not just emotional, but a spiritual journey of the heart.”

“I’ve seen people come in very hardened, perhaps hateful of men, and walk out completely different,” he said.

A typical retreat has a team of six or seven people, including a facilitator, a priest, a professional therapist, a person who does the audio/visual, and one or two people who lead the readings, meditations and prayers.

Although the founder of Rachel’s Vineyard, Theresa Karminski Burke, is Catholic, the program offers a Catholic version and an interdenominational version.

The priest said generally, more women come than men, but it is always open to both. Participants also must be at least 18 years of age but that “you’re never too old to make the retreat.”

Father Cameron said that if someone has a person in their life that had an abortion “that person may be hurting deeply. They don’t feel they have permission to grieve.” He said “offering to go and make the retreat with them may open the door for someone — saying ‘I would love to walk this with you.’”

In fact, hopeafterabortionky.com, the website for Rachel’s Vineyard of Kentucky, encourages people to consider inviting their spouse or support person to accompany them on the retreat.

He said Rachel’s Vineyard has found that many people who had abortions also had been sexually abused, which led Burke to develop a sister retreat in 2005 called Grief to Grace, for individuals to find healing who have endured physical, emotional, sexual and/or spiritual abuse.

Sometimes people bring their stories of abuse to Rachel’s Vineyard and it can help them heal, “but for some, the trauma is so deep that they need something more,” he said.

Ministering with Rachel’s Vineyard has shown him “some of the most powerful experiences of being a spiritual father and shepherd. It’s made me so much more cognizant of the pain and trauma that people experience.”

Megan encourages anyone who might need to attend a Rachel’s Vineyard retreat to consider signing up, stressing: “God is forgiving and he will accept you in his open arms. You are worth it. You don’t need to carry around this burden anymore.”

Dear Theresa, Katie and Team,

We are proud and honored to be celebrating 25 years since our first retreat in 1997.

The Catholic Virginian shared our story on the front page of last week’s edition. We have attached the link for you to share (https://catholicvirginian.org/news/local-abortion-healing-ministry-marks-25th-anniversary).

The inception of the Richmond Chapter of Rachel’s Vineyard began in 1995, when KayMarie and Joe Geiger attended a Catholic Conference and met Father Mike Mannion. They started discussing the need for healing from abortion. He referred this faith-filled couple to Dr. Theresa Burke and thus began a beautiful relationship resulting in the longest consecutive running satellite site for Rachel’s Vineyard. Kay and Joe trained under Theresa for two years before conducting the first retreat in Richmond, VA, in 1997.

We sadly lost our sweet Joe in 2011 and our fearless KayMarie in 2014, but their legacy lives on. We are still going strong with 16 committed and devoted team members. We have memorialized 1012 babies, who are forever memorialized in our book of remembrance, and have ministered to countless women and men.

God has been good to us and we are honored and humbled to be called to the Vineyard to serve Him. We feel so blessed to be a apart of this beautiful RV family.

God Bless,

Rachel’s Vineyard Ministries Offers Path to Reconciliation Following Abortion
(Newark, New Jersey, celebrates 25 years of Rachel’s Vineyard Retreats)
By Jaimie Julia Winters

It took Patty almost 20 years to come to terms with an abortion she had in 1999.

“I lost my faith through the sin of abortion, Patty said. “It makes you feel estranged from the Church.” But after attending a Rachel’s Vineyard retreat for mothers and fathers who struggle with their abortion decision, Patty found the peace and forgiveness she was yearning for, she said. She also found her way back to Christ and the Church.

“You are always harder on yourself and don’t ever see a path to forgiveness,” Patty said. “But at the retreat, you are treated like you are worthy. At the retreat, I received the mercy of forgiveness.”

Rachel’s Vineyard Ministries was started in 1994 by Dr. Theresa Burke, who noticed that the women who attended her weekly support groups for post-abortion women needed an entire weekend to “do the work” of grieving their abortion. According to the organization’s website, the name “Rachel’s Vineyard” can be traced to Biblical text. “Rachel” refers to an Old Testament figure in the book of Jeremiah: “Rachel mourns her children; she refuses to be consoled because her children are no more.” The word “vineyard” refers to Chapter 15 of the Gospel of John, where Jesus says, “In the same way, you cannot bear fruit unless you remain in me. I am the vine; you are the branches. Whoever remains in me, and I in him will bear much fruit, for you can do nothing without me.”

Soon after the weekend retreats were launched, the Archdiocese of Newark stepped on board, adopting Rachel’s Vineyard as its outreach to those suffering from an abortion decision.

On Saturday, Oct. 29, the Office of Respect Life celebrated its 25th anniversary with Rachel’s Vineyard Ministry. Archdiocesan priests who have helped at the retreats, Ministry of Life employees, Rachel’s Vineyard counselors, and alums gathered at the Pastoral Center in Newark.

“Lifting people wounded by abortion and inviting them back into the light of Our Lord Jesus Christ has been a grace in the lives of many,” said Cardinal Joseph W. Tobin, C.Ss.R., Archbishop of Newark, in a message congratulating the ministry on its 25th anniversary. “In times of personal distress, trauma, or the loss of life, we often look to God. He is ever so present in the midst of our suffering, and His loving grace is abundant.”
Rachel’s Vineyard Ministries Offers Path to Reconciliation Following Abortion (cont’d)

At Rachel’s Vineyard, “Peace is found. Lives are restored. A sense of hope and meaning for the future is rediscovered,” Cardinal Tobin said.

Because every abortion experience is different, the retreat offers an opportunity for participants to examine their individual abortion experience, identify how the loss has impacted them, and help acknowledge any unresolved feelings they are struggling with, according to the Rachel’s Vineyard website (www.RachelsVineyard.org).

Most profound to the many alums is receiving reconciliation after talking with priests about their abortion decision.

Theresa Burke said that when people hear a message of forgiveness and healing rather than the idea that God wants to punish them for committing an “unforgivable sin,” they leave behind the despair and feel grace and hope for the first time.

That was certainly the experience for Cheryl A. Riley, the director of the Archdiocese of Newark’s Respect Life Office, which coordinates Rachel’s Vineyard retreats for the Archdiocese. Riley attended the weekend retreat after seeing an ad for Rachel’s Vineyard in her church bulletin at Queen of Peace Church in North Arlington 12 years after her abortion.

Riley said that after her abortion at 19, she became angry and depressed. She was mad at her boyfriend, who she felt pressured her to have an abortion; the doctors and nurses, whom she felt did not give her the emotional care needed following the trauma; and her elders for failing to educate her. But she was mostly angry at herself. She said she turned to alcohol and drugs to cope and, at one point, was suicidal.

She attended the retreat and said she was able to accomplish three things she could not do before: ask and receive the forgiveness of God and her child, forgive those who were involved in her abortion experience, and – most of all – forgive herself.

The women and men who participate in the retreats are encouraged to envision their children, name them, and grieve the loss with a memorial service and a Mass of entrustment.

Donna, who attended a retreat following an abortion, said the experience brought her back to the Church and Jesus. She said that until the retreat, she had never acknowledged what she had been through with her abortion decision.

Mary Kominsky, another Rachel’s Vineyard alumna, says mothers who have experienced abortion all too often say they are “fine.” Kominsky said she, too, thought she had dealt with the trauma and had moved on until Rachel’s Vineyard taught her how to truly grieve.

Alumni Karen Searson said that the Catholic Church was the last place she would have looked for help after her abortion, but she said God called her to the retreat.
Rachel’s Vineyard Ministries Offers Path to Reconciliation Following Abortion (cont’d)

“It wasn’t until I wanted to return to my faith ...and there was this brick wall. How do I get past this?” Searson said about her abortion.

“Because of the emotional numbness and secrecy that often surrounds an abortion experience, conflicting emotions both during and after the event may remain unresolved. These buried feelings can surface later and may be symptoms of post-abortion trauma,” Theresa Burke said.

But the “mercy of God is undeniable,” Kominsky said.

Theresa’s husband and Rachel’s Vineyard co-founder Ken Burke said that too many times, people look at abortion as a contentious and political issue.

“I don’t see it that way anymore,” Ken Burke said. “It’s an issue of damaged relationships. In the beginning, you have the mother’s relationship with her developing child, and the way that she is intimately hurt by participating in the child’s death is that the relationship is broken.”

The same goes with the father, Ken Burke said.

Kominsky and Searson said keeping both men and women together during the weekend helped them to see the perspective of others and aided in the healing process.

Kominsky says she believes there’s a “spiritual umbilical cord” between the child to the woman and that the child is praying for the mother and father to seek healing.

“Our children in Heaven are calling us to heal,” Kominsky said.

Patty said she now has a relationship with her child. She also now believes in the “spiritual umbilical cord” and that she will “hold her in the next world.”

Father John J. Chadwick, S.T.D., the Archdiocese’s Vicar General, has ministered at many retreats.

“A day doesn’t go by when I don’t remember the people I met on those retreats,” he said. “You just see Christ bringing his life to bear in all of them. And that is what a priestly life is all about.”

Each retreat is led by a team of trained volunteers who have all participated in a retreat, including lay ministers, an archdiocesan priest, and deacons.

The retreat also welcomes grandparents and siblings of aborted children to heal. The retreats are offered in English and Spanish. Those offered in Spanish are only one day.

“I am grateful to everyone involved with this ministry and look forward to working together in the continued mission of reconciliation,” Cardinal Tobin said.

Rachel’s Vineyard Ministries’ silver anniversary comes on the heel of the Dobbs v. Jackson’s Women’s Health Organization Supreme Court decision this summer. The June 24 decision overturned Roe v. Wade, removing the federal protection it provided since 1973 permitting abortion in all states. Following the June decision, many states have passed abortion bans.

The Society of Family Planning’s #WeCount reporting effort compared data from April to August 2022 and discovered that the estimated number of abortions decreased by 6%, from 85,020 abortions in April to 79,620 in August, according to a report from the society.

Congratulations to the Pro Life Community in the Diocese of Dallas for it’s 75th Rachel’s Vineyard Retreat! What an incredible legacy of service! And to add to that endeavor, they also mark the occasion of their 54th Spanish retreat, established to serve the needs of the Latino community.

That’s a total of 129 Rachel’s Vineyard Retreats in Dallas since it was started in 1999! So many lives have been transformed! I thank God for all those who have served so faithfully in Dallas from its inception with Barbara and Mark Hennes (RIP) who drove all the way from Dallas to Philadelphia to learn how to facilitate the retreat; succeeded by the capable Eileen Kuhlmann, who took over the reins of leadership. Under her steadfast guidance, the local ministry expanded with trainings and new initiatives including the programs for men.

For over two decades a remarkable lineup of dedicated retreat team leaders and facilitators have been upheld by all the generous donors who have made these retreats possible. I thank God for all of you! I am keenly aware of the enormous love and tenderness you display to everyone who comes to Rachel’s Vineyard.

Blessings and heartfelt best wishes on all your ministries! I remain with you In the Vineyard of the Lord Jesus!

In response to changes in abortion laws in Texas, Citi Bank is using their substantial resources to provide travel benefits and free hotel rooms for women to access abortion facilities.

It’s tragic that wealthy corporations led by women are choosing to invest their money to extinguish the lives of their employees’ babies. I’d rather see them pay for a reasonable maternity leave, family leave for when a child is sick, providing flex time in the work place, or shared job schedules for working moms and dads.

Better yet, perhaps take a miniscule chunk of their $2.291 trillion in assets and help remove some of the obstacles that force women to seek abortions in the first place ... like funding day care centers instead of sports arenas, or lowering the interest and mortgage rates for families with limited incomes.

The idea that abortion is a fundamental right, or is the only way that women can care for themselves, does not reflect the way that abortion is actually experienced. It is more inherently borne as a violation of oneself rather than a caring and nurturing of oneself. Women need nonviolent alternatives and assistance that does not assault their psychological, relational, and spiritual integrity.

Research shows that abortion is much more likely to damage a couple’s relationship than to enhance it, as they struggle with the grief and moral injuries related to abortion.

It is well documented that traumatic experiences fracture attachments and relationships with family and intimacy with loved ones. Abortion trauma shatters the belief that the self is fashioned and sustained in relation to others and can shatter the values of love, attachment, nurturing, and family that give meaning to life.

In my book Forbidden Grief, The Unspoken Pain of Abortion, I shared the story of Tasha. Everything after her abortion echoed the barren landscape their lives had become. Tasha recalled their bleak status:

“There was an eerie stillness to our relationship. A disconnection, a loss of passion, music, and everything else we once shared. It all resounded with the echo of my empty womb where nothing grew, my body where nothing hurt, my life where nothing lived ... it was the black hole. Our life went on in this vortex ...with no love. He did his thing to shame himself, and I retreated into my numbness and depression. It was a sentence of eternal abandonment.”
Encourage and Support Employees to Prevent the Moral Injury of Abortion (cont'd)

Citi-Bank’s reactive gesture is a self-serving false compassion that undermines the very fabric of necessary help women need in the workforce to nurture and sustain their families. Citi Bank demonstrates a complete failure to recognize the high cost of personal devastating consequences from abortion, which result in post traumatic stress disorders, anxiety, depression, drug overdoses, alcohol abuse, addictions, eating disorders, suicide attempts, sexual dysfunction, and parenting difficulties.

Tragically, the widespread ignorance and denial regarding abortions consequences will contribute to the problem of even more women being coerced into unwanted abortions. Especially if your own employer, spouse, boyfriend or boss mistakenly believe that abortion is a form of women’s empowerment, and they jump on a political agenda, they are more likely to mislead, manipulate, and pressure women into unwanted abortions. This is especially critical because 64% of American women who have had abortions felt pressure by others -- including threats and violent physical assault.

Greetings.

I am gladly writing to inform you that we had our second Rachel post-abortion retreat from 18-20 March 2022. Twelve women and a man attended. It was a great experience, and the participants were very happy and grateful. For the first time, they opened up and shared their crippling and toxic post-abortion experiences. The Living Scripture exercises were really a healing balm. Our Team of six members comprising a clinical psychologist (and an abortion survivor), a priest, myself, a sister, and two other volunteers (post-abortive) women were able, through God’s grace, to restore lives and experience complete healing. They were so grateful.

I thank God for you, dear Theresa. The Rachel Vineyard model you produced is superb. Once again, a team from the USA offered their financial support to help us defray the expenses. May God reward them abundantly.

We have scheduled another Retreat in June if we could find financial support.

Our women, especially, are dying in silence, guilt, and shame. They need liberation and assurance of God’s unconditional forgiveness.

Yours sincerely in Jesus Christ, the Lord of Life,

Rachel’s Vineyard in the Netherlands

In 2018, a group of three people started the preparations to introduce Rachel’s Vineyard in the Netherlands. The preparations consisted of translating the manual into the Dutch language, choosing and forming the team, practicing the sessions, and creating the website. We are grateful for the support of the team and Process Supervisors from the UK, Scotland, and Germany for their advice and exchange of experiences. We started holding weekends in September 2020 and have held five retreats at different locations in the Netherlands. With the help of God’s grace, we even continued during the corona crisis.

About 80% of our participants had a Catholic background and the remaining 20% were Protestant, not religious, or Muslim. The age of our participants was between 28 and 78 years. After every retreat we organize a reunion, and every year we also organize a Meeting Day for those who have attended past retreats. We advertise in Christian media, but word-of-mouth advertisement works best. A special form of advertising is speaking about Rachel’s Vineyard at church and distributing flyers afterwards. At Prolife gatherings (for the protection of life), we also have conversations with women who have had abortions. Some of these women have already experienced a Rachel’s Vineyard weekend. As a Process Leader, I follow training sessions via Zoom from Dr. Theresa Burke with others who are also involved from the U.S. and beyond. That is a great enrichment and necessary support. We also train our team by sharing the knowledge gained from these trainings and by inviting guests to speak with us. A very important point is the formation and maintenance of the team spirit. After the retreats we have meetings, we meet regularly for prayers and evaluations, and we close the liturgical year with an Advent get-together. We are happy to bring Rachel’s Vineyard to men and women and to assist them on the path of healing. Watching the transition they experience from the time they come on a Friday, to the time they leave on a Sunday, is something that fills us with gratitude. May the Holy Spirit continue protecting us. We are very happy with the support of Rachel’s Vineyard International and are grateful that we may be a part of it. May the Lord bless Rachel’s Vineyard worldwide and all the women and men God will call.

God bless!
Sr. Sterre
Facilitator, Rachel’s Vineyard Netherlands

Rachel’s Vineyard in the Netherlands (cont’d)

Meet Sr. Sterre

My name is Sister Sterre. I’m named after “Maria Sterre der Zee” (in English, “Mary Star of the Sea”). She is the patron of our convent, which is also named “Sterre der Zee,” and of our Province. I live in the South of the Netherlands in Brunssum, in the province of Limburg.

Originally, I am from Rotterdam, in the west of the Netherlands. In 2005 I joined the Servants of the Lord and the Virgin of Matará. We are Catholic missionary sisters and have missions all over the world. People just call us “blue sisters” because of the color of our habit.

Since 2020, we have been giving Rachel’s Vineyard Retreats in the Netherlands. And by the providence of God, I have been asked to be the Site leader. Giving weekends together is something that just happened to come my way.

I experienced Rachel’s Vineyard as a special calling within my religious vocation. We learned from the England, Scotland, and Ireland teams through our contacts with their Site leaders. We have a great team with different qualities, and most of our team members have had an abortion experience or lost a baby. I am also grateful for Dr. Theresa Burke’s trainings and her answers to my questions during the course.

Besides Rachel’s Vineyard we also help women who are unexpectedly pregnant and have vulnerable children. Furthermore, I give catechesis to children at school and prepare them for the Sacraments. In my free time, I cycle, which is a typical Dutch thing to do, and I like to walk to see God’s creation.

We are very happy with the support of Rachel’s Vineyard International and to be a part of it. May the Lord bless Rachel’s Vineyard worldwide and all call the men and women God calls.
“Joseph of Arimathea... went boldly to Pilate and asked for the body of Jesus.” Mark 15:43

Rachel’s Vineyard Saskatchewan held a retreat in April. As the priest on the team, a recurring theme for me throughout the weekend was the importance of one’s body. Explanations on grief work are given to the retreatants about breathing and oxygen, stretch breaks, and the need for water at those moments when an experience of grief wells up from within and is expressed.

An explanation of Adoration and the Holy Eucharist centres on the body of Christ “broken for you for the forgiveness of sins.” During the retreat there is a “remembrance” of what has been dis-membered. Before the Mass of Entrustment on Sunday, one phrase in the facilitator’s notes of explanation is that as “the body of Christ we come together to pray for peace and healing.”

I am conscious of my role representing the Church and also men, participating with a male voice literally and metaphorically in the Living Scripture exercises. Dr. Burke, too, explains the insights she has learned about the male body in the life of the retreatants, and her principle that the priest be at the retreat from start to completion: “Since so many have experienced abandonment by God as well as an abandonment by men who have dropped in and out of their lives, it can be a healing experience to have a priest remain with them as they progress through the work of the retreat.”

The human body can attract or repel us. The Good Thief on the cross is attracted to Jesus’s voice and strength in his humiliation when he hears, “Father forgive them, they know not what they do.” The other thief chooses to reject the experience of Jesus’ body in his life, even when Christ’s crucified body is so close in proximity to him. One of the reasons I’m a Christian is the principle of “repentance as a way of salvation,” as is prayed in the Divine Liturgy. Ironically, those who dismiss abortion as “no big deal” are also the same ones who make a very big deal of saying to the pre-born that they have committed a sin and a crime for which there is no forgiveness.

By contrast, through the work of the retreat, we “rejoice in the gift of forgiveness and reconciliation,” which is extended to the post-abortive woman when her grief includes an inability to forgive herself. As Dr. Burke writes, “by dealing with her losses, she might begin to recognize her inherent worth as a human being, and her desire for real dignity and love.”

While the culture of Jesus’ era understood pregnancy as being “with child” immediately after conception, we are at risk of pitting the pre-born as an abstraction against the plight of the mother who is considered very tangible and concrete. As the Rachel’s Vineyard retreat is experienced from Friday to Sunday, the body of the lost child progresses from an abstraction to a very real and also beloved body. For some, there is the realization that what has been lost is really who has been lost: my child; my daughter; my son; my parent’s grandchild; a human, possessing the same dignity as every other human being created in the image and likeness of God, as we will hear on Sunday during the memorial service. Getting to that insight intellectually, emotionally, psychologically, and spiritually is a very real accomplishment, gift, and blessing from the Holy Spirit.

The Gospel reading for the Sunday of our retreat recalls the courage of Joseph of Arimathea to ask for permission to bury the body of Jesus. During our retreat, we ask the participants for permission to bury to body of their lost child or children, symbolically and in a meaningful ritual. We also ask the retreatants for permission to resuscitate their own bodies and return to life. A common comment by the end of the retreat is that “you look so much younger now than you did when you first arrived on Friday.”

The Lazarus exercise is the ritual, emotional, and spiritual work of acknowledging the parts of one’s body now dead from sin, and accepting the liberation and return to life in one’s offered by Christ. “Lazarus, come forth” represents this great hope. In the Divine Liturgy of St. John Chrysostom that is offered by me as a Ukrainian Catholic priest, the service ends with an exhortation, “Let us go forth in peace.” The Lazarus exercise is a symbolic exiting of one’s tomb, while going forth after the Mass of Entrustment means leaving both the womb of the retreat and the Divine Liturgy, born again as it were.

In this manner we participate in Christ’s words, “unless a man be born of water and Spirit...” During the weekend, the water has been tears, many tears of bitterness and then tears of joy and freedom in the realization that “our tears show the love we have for our children.” Without dismissing this experience as “no big deal,” we seek to reach that point in which the words of the angel to Mary Magdalene are said to us, “the period for mourning has been completed. Do not cry, but instead proclaim the resurrection...”
In October 2021, we had Fr. Jose Colon, General Vicar to the Bishop of Puerto Rico, serve as the weekend priest in our Spanish retreat. Fr. Jose immediately fell in love with El Viñedo de Raquel. On Friday night, he called his Bishop, Monsignor Luis Francisco Miranda of the Fajardo-Humacao Diocese, and explained our retreat to him. Bishop Miranda promptly said to Fr. Jose, “What are you waiting for? Bring the beautiful retreat to our Diocese.”

We quickly started to work and train a team: Patricia Ortiz and Karla Cintron (from our April retreat in Palm Beach, FL), Fr. Juan Figueroa, Fr. Yoel Flores, Janice Martinez, Mother Isabel, and Deacon Johnathon (who will be ordained a priest on December 3rd). Our first retreat was planned for November 11-13, 2022, with Monsignor Miranda and Fr. Jose presiding at Holy Mass.

We planned our trip to leave from Florida on Thursday, November 10, but it was canceled because of hurricane Nicole, which was predicted to pass through Palm Beach. So some members of my team had to text their bosses to see if we could leave Wednesday, and praise be to God, we did!

I feel overjoyed and so thankful to our Heavenly Father for allowing us to witness His Mercy and Healing once again. We had 11 participants, including one couple, one 79-year-old male, and one 77-year-old female—and we honored 26 babies. There was much pain, shame, anxiety, depression, and trauma throughout the weekend. However, we were able to see God’s Love & Mercy the entire time.

We also built a Memorial for the Unborn in Fajardo. It’s in the Diocese’s local store where a lot of people will be able to witness that life begins at conception. Bishop Miranda did the Blessing; he was so happy that our team was able to raise the money (we sold candles as a fundraiser, and an anonymous person helped, as well). Thank you, Lord Jesus, for always leading us!!

Dear Friends of Life!

What a joy to enter this time of year, despite all the vagaries of the current context! And despite all the hardships we have gone through... We hope for each and every one of you that "everything that can go well is going well"... as our friend Thérèse Cornille liked to say. Is this vigil of the Feast of Christ the King of the Universe, which closes the liturgical year in wonderful hope, not a privileged moment to give thanks for so many graces received?

At every stage of this year we have been amazed witnesses of the Merciful Love of the Lord of Life lavished mightily during the various sessions. We are happy on the occasion of this great Feast to come and join you and share with you the next scheduled sessions of Rachel’s Vine and From Sorrow to Grace?

We are grateful to all those who have been ambassadors and/or witnesses, or witnesses of witnesses, to people in dire need of consolation, healing and liberation, who could only be reached by you. We like to recall what Mother Teresa said: "It is a drop in the immense sea of needs, but it would be missed by the sea!" Thank you for your loyalty. May you receive more blessings for you and all your own!

In order to grow in our communion, let us pray by entrusting one another to the Holy Trinity. We entrust a special intention, to those who know him, for Joel; and we invite you not to forget to associate in your prayer our foundress, Theresa Burke and for our dear Father Dominic Allain, from London, and the wonderful support provided by Fr. Frank Pavone, with Priests for Life, for their support of Rachel’s Vineyard International Office. In communion in trusting hope, with our gratitude and all our friendship received from God Good and Friend of men.

Monique Lecoufle
History of RV in France

by Monique Lecoufle

In 1986, Theresa Karminski-Burke, Ph.D., founded one of the first postabortion support therapeutic groups for women. In 1994, "Rachel's Vineyard – A Psychological and Spiritual Journey of Post Abortion Healing" was published for the first time. It was a unique therapeutic model offering a very concrete experience of post-abortion support for women grieving the loss of their child. In 1995, Theresa adapted and extended the program and gave it the form of a weekend retreat. People from various American states, eager for healing, came to experience this weekend. By word of mouth alone, due to its spectacular effectiveness, this form of weekend retreat is beginning to spread rapidly across the country.

In 2005, 10 years after the beginning of a long work to heal the trauma of her abortion, a French woman, Anne-Hélène, experienced healing to a degree of depth never known before, during her retreat the Vigne de Rachel in the United States. She agreed to translate the retirement manual with a Quebec couple, Jean-Marc and Diane Richard, to benefit her Quebec and French colleagues. In 2009, Bishop Brouvet, then Auxiliary Bishop of Nanterre, asked him to organize a first retreat at Rachel's vineyard in France on an experimental basis. Following this retreat, he gave his support to the project.

Since then, retreats have been organized in France by people who have been involved for many years in post-abortion healing. There are currently two teams: one at the Maison de la Trinité in Cerfroid; the other at Notre Dame de Fresneau, Marsanne.

Theresa Burke estimates that there are 300,000 volunteers serving those who suffer in silence. Rachel’s Vineyard is used by many health professionals, post-abortion recovery programs, pregnancy centers, pastoral and support teams.

This manual is for Retreat Leaders to guide them through facilitating the psychological and spiritual journey of post abortion healing. It is available in an Interdenominational edition as well as Spanish, Portuguese, and Russian.
Forbidden Grief: the Unspoken Pain of Abortion
by Dr. Theresa Burke, founder of Rachel’s Vineyard

Forbidden Grief is considered a definitive work on the study of traumatic reactions following abortion.

Contraception of Grief by Dr. Theresa Burke

This book exposes the pain that so many women endure when they realize that the contraceptives they used caused the deaths of their children. This book is for women, men, pastors, doctors, and all who minister to the family.

Rivers of Blood/Oceans of Mercy, by Kevin Burke, LSW; Theresa Burke, Ph.D; and Rev Frank Pavone.

Rivers of Blood lifts the veil on reproductive rights, and reveals how the fallout from more than 60 million abortions extends far beyond the private sphere of a woman’s personal healthcare decisions; the impact is dynamic, and far-reaching. After unveiling the deeper impact of Roe V Wade, Rivers of Blood/Oceans of Mercy presents an overview of the essential components of the healing journey. Church leaders will find valuable help for preaching and pastoral ministry. Counselors and caring friends and family will be equipped to reach out with love to those wounded by abortion.

Tears of the Fisherman, by Kevin Burke, LSW

Tears of the Fisherman will help readers understand the wider impact of abortion on men, their relationships, families, faith and work lives. Through case studies, personal testimony, and the author’s 30 years of experience in post abortion counseling, you will encounter men devastated by unwanted abortions, the burden of shame and guilt carried by men who were passive at the time of the abortion decision or pressured their partners to abort, and the impact of abortion among the male prison population.

Auf Erstehung Frauen und Manner berichten uber ihre Heilung nach Abtreibung

This is a collection of Rachel’s Vineyard and Silent No More Testimonies compiled in German and written by Fr Manfried. He is a team member of Rachel’s Vineyard.
