October 2022

Our 2022-2023 Virtual Leadership Conference, "Leading with Light," is a collaboration of Rachel's Vineyard, Priests for Life, Grief to Grace, Duty to Heal, and the Living Scripture Institute, which serves as the training arm for Grief to Grace and Duty to Heal.

We are excited to provide cutting-edge information on trauma, sleep deprivation, medical abortions, and other important topics related to our ministries. There will also be new facilitation classes on innovative grounding techniques that can be used during any of our retreats.

To better help people with busy schedules, beginning November 14, we will be offering four days of courses spread throughout the year. This will be less demanding than our original plan of four Mondays during the month of September and will give you the opportunity to dive into each subject more fully. The courses will remain on our website for two months, so you can watch the classes as many times as you like.

We will email your subscription information to the email you provide on the Registration Form by November 14. Your subscription will enable you to watch the videos. We'll also post updated information on our Registration page.

You can register and pay online securely.

Or, if you would rather pay by check, fill out our Registration form and mail it to us, with a check made payable to "Living Scripture Institute" (and "Leadership Conference 2022" written in the memo line) at: Living Scripture Institute, 743 Roy Rd, King of Prussia, PA 19406. As soon as we receive your payment, we will email your subscription information.

Of course, you can still call us at 610-354-0555 and register over the phone.

Date: Beginning Monday, November 14, 2022

Time: Our video courses will be on our dedicated webpage, to which you'll receive a Subscription Login by November 14 (after registration and payment)

Cost: $250 per person, which allows access to all courses and Q&A sessions

If you have any questions, please contact us at Conference2022@LivingScriptureInstitute.org or at 610-354-0555.

Cancellation Policy: There is a Non-refundable $25 application fee. The remainder of the cost will be refunded.

Healing in the Light of Hope: Finding Christ in the Midst of the Storm
Monday, Nov. 7, 2022 | 7:00 pm | Sts. Simon & Jude, West Chester, PA

Tragedies, anxieties, and fear have a powerful impact in our lives. They have the power to crush our dignity, distort our hearts, and create wounds that need healing and transformation. No matter what kind of trauma you have experienced in your life, God wants to heal you. Join Dr. Theresa Burke (Founder of Rachel's Vineyard, Grief to Grace, and Duty to Heal) for a unique night of learning, followed by a Living Scripture experience and discussion. This is a free event. Learn more here.

An Update from Around the Vineyard

Rachel's Vineyard in the Netherlands

In 2018, a group of three people started the preparations to introduce Rachel's Vineyard in the Netherlands. The preparations consisted of translating the manual into the Dutch language, choosing and forming the team, practicing the sessions, and creating the website. We are grateful for the support of the team and Process Supervisors from the UK, Scotland, and Germany for their advice and exchange of experiences. We started holding weekends in September 2020 and have held five retreats at different locations in the Netherlands. With the help of God's grace, we even continued during the corona crisis. About 80% of our participants had a Catholic background and the remaining 20% were Protestant, not religious, or Muslim. The age of our participants was between 28 and 78 years. After every retreat we organize a reunion, and every year we also organize a Meeting Day for those who have attended past retreats. We advertise in Christian media, but word-of-mouth advertisement works best. A special form of advertising is speaking about Rachel's Vineyard at church and distributing flyers afterwards. At Pro-life gatherings (for the protection of life), we also have conversations with women who have had abortions. Some of these women have already experienced a Rachel's Vineyard weekend. As a Process Leader, I follow training sessions via Zoom from Teresa Burke with others who are also involved from the U.S. and beyond. That is a great enrichment and necessary support. We also train our team by sharing the knowledge gained from these trainings and by inviting guests to speak with us. A very important point is the formation and maintenance of the team spirit. After the retreats we have meetings, we meet regularly for prayers and evaluations, and we close the liturgical year with an Advent get-together. We are happy to bring Rachel's Vineyard to men and women and to assist them on the path of healing. Watching the transition they experience from the time they come on a Friday, to the time they leave on a Sunday, is something that fills us with gratitude. May the Holy Spirit continue protecting us. We are very happy with the support of Rachel's Vineyard International and are grateful that we may be a part of it. May the Lord bless Rachel's Vineyard worldwide and all the women and men God will call.

God bless!

Rachel's Vineyard Saskatchewan

Father Jeffrey Stephaniuk

“Joseph of Arimathea... went boldly to Pilate and asked for the body of Jesus.”
Mark 15:43

Rachel's Vineyard Saskatchewan held a retreat in April. As the priest on the team, a recurring theme for me throughout the weekend was the importance of one's body. Explanations on grief work are given to the retreatants about breathing and oxygen, stretch breaks, and the need for water at those moments when an experience of grief wells up from within and is expressed.

An explanation of Adoration and the Holy Eucharist centres on the body of Christ “broken for you for the forgiveness of sins.” During the retreat there is a “remembrance” of what has been dis-membered. Before the Mass of Entrustment on Sunday, one phrase in the facilitator's notes of explanation is that as “the body of Christ we come together to pray for peace and healing.”

I am conscious of my role representing the Church and also men, participating with a male voice literally and metaphorically in the Living Scripture exercises. Dr. Burke, too, explains the insights she has learned about the male body in the life of the retreatants, and her principle that the priest be at the retreat from start to completion: “Since so many have experienced abandonment by God as well as an abandonment by men who have dropped in and out of their lives, it can be a healing experience to have a priest remain with them as they progress through the work of the retreat.”

The human body can attract or repel us. The Good Thief on the cross is attracted to Jesus's voice and strength in his humiliation when he hears, “Father forgive them, they know not what they do.” The other thief chooses to reject the experience of Jesus' body in his life, even when Christ's crucified body is so close in proximity to him. One of the reasons I'm a Christian is the principle of “repentance as a way of salvation,” as is prayed in the Divine Liturgy. Ironically, those who dismiss abortion as “no big deal” are also the same ones who make a very big deal of saying to the pre-born that they have committed a sin and a crime for which there is no forgiveness.

By contrast, through the work of the retreat, we “rejoice in the gift of forgiveness and reconciliation,” which is extended to the post-abortive woman when her grief includes an inability to forgive herself. As Dr. Burke writes, “by dealing with her losses, she might begin to recognize her inherent worth as a human being, and her desire for real dignity and love.”

While the culture of Jesus' era understood pregnancy as being “with child” immediately after conception, we are at risk of pitting the pre-born as an abstraction against the plight of the mother who is considered very tangible and concrete. As the Rachel's Vineyard retreat is experienced from Friday to Sunday, the body of the lost child progresses from an abstraction to a very real and also beloved body. For some, there is the realization that what has been lost is really who has been lost: my child; my daughter; my son; my parent's grandchild; a human, possessing the same dignity as every other human being created in the image and likeness of God, as we will hear on Sunday during the memorial service. Getting to that insight intellectually, emotionally, psychologically, and spiritually is a very real accomplishment, gift, and blessing from the Holy Spirit.

The Gospel reading for the Sunday of our retreat recalls the courage of Joseph of Arimathea to ask for permission to bury the body of Jesus. During our retreat, we ask the participants for permission to bury to body of their lost child or children, symbolically and in a meaningful ritual. We also ask the retreatants for permission to resuscitate their own bodies and return to life. A common comment by the end of the retreat is that “you look so much younger now than you did when you first arrived on Friday.”

The Lazarus exercise is the ritual, emotional, and spiritual work of acknowledging the parts of one’s body now dead from sin, and accepting the liberation and return to life in one’s offered by Christ. “Lazarus, come forth” represents this great hope. In the Divine Liturgy of St. John Chrysostom that is offered by me as a Ukrainian Catholic priest, the service ends with an exhortation, “Let us go forth in peace.” The Lazarus exercise is a symbolic exiting of one’s tomb, while going forth after the Mass of Entrustment means leaving both the womb of the retreat and the Divine Liturgy, born again as it were.

In this manner we participate in Christ’s words, “unless a man be born of water and Spirit...” During the weekend, the water has been tears, many tears of bitterness and then tears of joy and freedom in the realization that “our tears show the love we have for our children.” Without dismissing this experience as “no big deal,” we seek to reach that point in which the words of the angel to Mary Magdalene are said to us, “the period for mourning has been completed. Do not cry, but instead proclaim the resurrection...”

A Note from the Pastoral Director

Dear Friends,

In many Churches, the month of October is observed as “Respect Life Month.” It is a great time to bring Rachel’s Vineyard to the attention of your pastor and other members of the pastoral team at your Church.

In fact, we have a website that provides several suggestions for Church projects related to abortion, and the urgent need to lead people to healing. The site is www.ProLife.Church.

Please take a moment to check it out, and note in particular that it encourages pastors to provide information about healing ministries (www.AbortionForgiveness.com) and to connect with Rachel’s Vineyard.

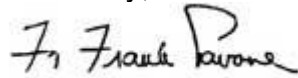

Sharing the invitation to healing in the Churches is crucial, whether by inviting one of our members to speak, or sharing the testimonies in the parish bulletin or website. Many who came through Rachel's Vineyard have become part of the Silent No More Awareness Campaign, and their testimonies are on www.AbortionTestimonies.com. Hearing these stories can be the turning point for many people either to become pro-life if they aren't already, or to become more active in fighting abortion.

Let's not forget, of course, as we promote the work of healing, to encourage as many as we can to be active in the upcoming elections and vote for those who will protect children and their families from the destructive effects of abortion!

God bless you!

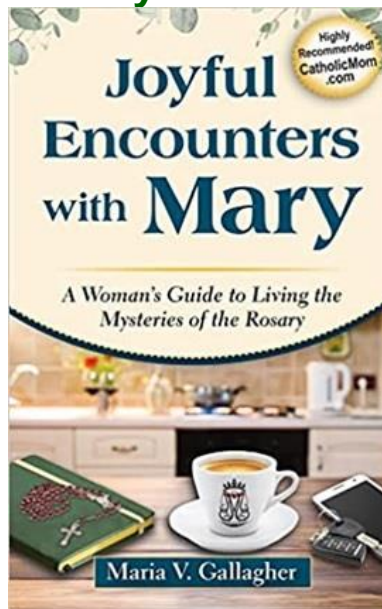

Sincerely,

Fr. Frank Pavone

Rachel's Vineyard Recommends:

Joyful Encounters with Mary: A Woman's Guide to Living the Mysteries of the Rosary by Maria V. Gallagher is an antidote to these tumultuous times in which faith is regularly called into question. It explores the possibility of establishing and maintaining a strong relationship with the Blessed Mother by considering how one's own life experiences mirror those of Mary. Readers are encouraged to reflect on how aspects of the Joyful Mysteries of the Rosary are lived out in one's own life. In this way, we can form a meaningful bond with the mother of Jesus, even if we have had difficulty with such a relationship in the past. In this original work, I draw upon life lessons learned from pregnancy, mentorship, motherhood, and the life-altering experience of finding a child who had gone missing. In this way, I demonstrate how the joyful mysteries have resonated in my life and can apply to the lives of other women as well.

Rachel's Vineyard in Social Media

At the beginning of the retreat, people come in and they are just so downtrodden. Some women are even limping and bent over because of the burden they carry, and the body bears the burden. At the end of the retreat, we see a great lifting. People look years younger. Many leave dancing. The transformation is profound and very compelling. We watch miracles.
